Notes From The U.A.C.

Mrs. Susa Y. Gates addressed the young women of the Home Seeker's Circle on Tuesday morning at the College.

On Friday evening of last week the Forestry class entertained the seniors and about ten members of the faculty at a Stag Party at Murdoch's. Mr. Trout was an excellent toast master and many good stories were told. Prof. Thatcher sang three songs and all passed a most enjoyable evening.

"Bill" Frew after three weeks of quarantine is out on the track every afternoon trying for the 100, 220 and quarter mile.

Prof. Larson entertained at dinner on Thursday evening at the college. His guests were the members of the Pygmalion and Galatea cast, Prof. Arnold and Mr. Pedersen.

Prof. John T. Caine III took the animal industry students on Monday to visit the feeding experiment yard at the Sugar Factory.

The concert given by the College String Quartette in the Weber Stake Academy Lecture course last Tuesday night was a great success. The playing was much appreciated by the Ogden people and the solo work of Mr. Spicker was especially well received. During the Ogden visit the quartette was entertained at lunch by Miss Lizzie McKay and her brother, who were students last year at the A. C., and at dinner by Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Morrell.

The tryout game last Saturday between the students and faculty developed some good baseball material. Incidentally Walker showed the team how a veteran acts in the box, for he fanned five men in two innings.

A large framed picture of a group of sheep entitled "Champions of the World" has been presented to the department of animal industry by J. R. Allen & Bros.

Prof. J. W. Jensen has been unable because of illness to meet his classes for the past two weeks.

Prof. Naud May Babcock, who is in town with the University Dramatic club, will address the college students in chapel this morning.

The football schedule for the next year is now filling up. Coach Walker is arranging for some big games to be played in Logan.

Dr. Reinsch, of the University of Wisconsin, will lecture to the students and friends of the college on Tuesday morning and evening.

Greenville.

GREENVILLE, March 27.—Our Relief Society arranged a nice program and basket party that was given March 17 in our hall, on the 66th anniversary of the first organization of the Relief Society. The program was satisfactorily rendered, after which refreshments were served. Then all enjoyed themselves in the good old fashioned dances, with the real old time sociable joyful spirit prevailing throughout. If it could only be said that the same social fraternal feeling existed in all gatherings what a happy community we would be.

One of the noted events of the week was the surprise party given in honor of Sister Elizabeth Asheman's 70th birthday. About eighteen members of the Relief Society went to her home and a pleasant time was had. Refreshments were served and the afternoon spent in social chat.

Supt. J. L. McCarrey visited our schools one day last week. He said the school was doing a good work; he had no fault to find.

Since our last writing babies have arrived at the home of Emil Moser and Jos. G. Smith. All are doing fine.

Some improvements are noticed in our ward. Willard Nyman has added a kitchen to his home; Lee Ferguson is adding an addition to the store, and several are building new barns.

C. A. Nyman who has been in Salt Lake City all winter, is enjoying home life again.

Mrs. Katie Cragun and son Dresden, of Smithfield, were visitors in our ward on Sunday.

We now run hacks for the Eagle hotel and from residences going to and from all trains. Bell Phone 453r, Ind. Phone 212d.

Surprise on Mr. Richards

MENDON, March 27.—The sweetest affair that has been given in Mendon for a long time was a surprise on H.T. Richards by his estimable wife and daughters, Misses Annie, Jennie and Marilla. There were seventy invited guests, and while Mr. Richards was at the depot after the mail the crowd gathered in the dancing hall. When he arrived home his wife escorted him into the hall, when the band struck up a lively tune. After everybody was quieted down a recitation was given by Frockwood Stumpf, song by Elias Davis; the fisher's hornpipe was danced by James Hill; recitation by Grandma Hardman, "St. Peter at the gates" then dancing was indulged in for about three hours. Whitney's orchestra furnishing the music. Then ice cream and lunch was served to the crowd. While supper was being served there was music on the phonograph and Miss Annie Richards played some fine selections on the piano. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all. Mr. Richards was fifty-nine years of age and all wished him many happy returns of the day.

Mrs. John Lallis, proprietress of the Lallis hotel, is dangerously ill. Her children, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Lallis, George Lallis of Mercur, and Mrs. John Westover, of Logan, have been summoned to her bedside.

The city council held a meeting Monday evening.

Mrs. Wm. I. Sorenson has started a dressmaking class.

Legrand Colby has returned home from Butte.

Several pieces of city property have changed hands lately. Lowe Landing has bought the Westover home up on the hill; Henry Shelton has bought the Fred Manning residence. Mr. Manning and family will move out to their ranch at Bannock. It is reported that John Westover, section foreman at Logan, has bought the Robert Sweeten property.

Dan Walters, of Wellsville, was in town this week buying grain.

Will Longstroth has gone out to his ranch at Pocahontas.

Mrs. Lydia Hogenson, of Logan, is visiting with relatives and friends.

Prof. Sorenson, of Salt Lake, lectured to a crowded house Tuesday night.

Quartet Cap- tures Ogden

The U. A. C. String Quartette, which played at Ogden Tuesday night and Brigham City Wednesday night, made a hit at both places. A large audience greeted the quartette at Ogden and was immensely pleased. The Ogden Standard says of the appearance:

"The concert given last evening by the Agricultural String Quartette at the Weber academy proved conclusively to the people of Ogden that a good thing can come out of Logan and that the musical members of the A. C. faculty made up a string quartette of which any college or city might well be proud. The first number on the program was the four movements of Haydn's Quartette, No. XI. The players were especially skillful in bringing out the qualities of Haydn's dainty music. This was the classical part of the program and was a pure delight to all lovers of classical music. Then followed three vocal selections by Mrs. Linnarz, who possessed a strong, sympathetic contralto voice. Her first number, the aria from Burton's Hiawatha, was especially interesting as a musical novelty. Burton is one of the few leading American composers and his work has been little heard in the west. His entire work of Hiawatha, which was given last year by the music students of the Agricultural college, is well worthy of study by those interested in the development of American music. After this Mrs. Linnarz sang with much feeling a charming little song by Lassen, and then gave to the accompaniment of the strings, Tchaikowsky's superb and soulful aria entitled, 'No One My Grief Can Feel.'

"Mr. Spicker's two violin solos were well received. He has had excellent training—in Leipzig under Hill and Nickisch, and is one of the leading violinists of the west, for he plays with the grace of a Sarasate and the intelligence of a Kreisler.

"The last number of the concert and the most popular with the audience was Raff's 'Fair Maiden of the Mill,' in six movements. Never has the romantic and delicate tenderness of rural love scenes been more beautifully and fittingly expressed in musical language than here and the final vivace movement found all completely under the spell of the story and its musical interpretation.

"On the whole the concert was an artistic success from every standpoint, and reflects credit on the academy management for bringing the quartette to Ogden."

The Box Elder News gives the Brigham City appearance a very flattering write-up and chides the public for failing to put in a "larger appearance." Bro. Lee found the voice of Mrs. Linnarz very much to his liking and throws several bouquets in her direction. He was also especially pleased with Mr. Spicker. The News concludes its eulogy with the following paragraph: "The quartette is a joy forever. We are almost afraid to say come again, but those who listened to the program last evening were given every cent's worth for their money and then some, and it is only to be regretted that the house was not packed."
